

WILSON'S PLEA FOR LEAGUE TO BE CONTINUED

Tumulty Paints Graphic Sketch Of Personality of President.

TO FIGHT FOR PACT

Secretary Lifts Veil From Figure At White House.

Washington, Oct. 29.—President Woodrow Wilson has enlisted for life. So long as he draws breath, he never will cease to battle for a league of nations to fight for consummation of his plan to make secure the peace of the world. Political leaders, office holders and private citizens agreed today that Joseph P. Tumulty, secretary to the president, had made that plan in his speech at Bethesda. It was equally agreed that Mr. Tumulty's address was the attempt of the man most intimately connected with the president for the last ten years who is counted on to become his biographer, to lift briefly the veil that has shrouded the lonely and tragic figure in the White House.

It was the secretary's effort to let his countrymen see through his eyes the leader he has followed by ten years—the man who once said to him "I want people to love me but they never will."

Secretary Tumulty indicated that the president, after he has stepped from the political stage, will make his plea for the league through his books.

Insists on Article.

"He has insisted in article X as the heart of the covenant," Tumulty said, "because he knew that only by combined action could the territorial integrity and political independence of nations be preserved from aggressive attack by ambitious nations. He wished to stop the next war before it should begin."

Secretary Tumulty described the scene at the capital April 6, 1917, when the president, amid wild cheers, read his war message.

"On that fateful day," he continued, "I rode with him back from the capitol to the White House, the echo of applause still ringing in my ears. For a while he sat silent and pale in the cabinet room. At last he said:

"Think what that was they were applauding. It means death for our young men. How strange it seems to applaud that! That simple remark is one key to an understanding of Woodrow Wilson."

When the bodies of the Americans killed at Vera Cruz were brought to New York for burial, said the secretary, rumors reached the secret service that there might be an attack on the president's life if he went to New York. Mayor Mitchell begged that he would not ride in the procession and others urged that "the country cannot afford to lose its president."

"This was his reply," said Tumulty. "The country cannot afford to have a coward for president."

MARY GARDEN IS A PROHIBITIONIST

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Mary Garden is a prohibitionist. The famous opera singer said so herself today.

"Whiskey and alcohol are the root of all evil," quoth Mary. "Prohibition is the greatest thing that ever happened to this country. Soon there will be world prohibition. I'm for it."

GIVES OPINION

Leon Bourgeois, president of the Council of the League of Nations, in an interview with American newspapermen said he had been astonished to see the political discussion in America concentrated around Article X of the covenant. He said: "Article X is not, in fact, anything more than the moral foundation of the covenant. All that is efficacious in the covenant is set forth in other articles indicating penalties and sanctions." He also said that Article X could be eliminated without in any way modifying the effectiveness of the League of Nations.

STEVEDORS ON STRIKE THROUGHOUT MEXICO THREATEN TROUBLE

President Takes Hand In Controversy In Country.

Vera Cruz, Oct. 29.—A strike of stevedores throughout Mexico was threatened today and a serious labor situation confronts the country. The stevedores issued a proclamation announcing they will strike this afternoon unless two gangs of dock workers, discharged last week for complicity in thefts, were immediately reinstated. The stevedores declared they would kill strike breakers. Provisional President De La Huerta has taken notice of the serious menace and is ordering the governors of all maritime states to be ready for any eventualities. Troops are being held in readiness for outbreaks. Practically all business has been suspended at this port.

DUBLIN HOLDS SERVICES FOR IRISH MAYOR

British Refuse To Permit Body To Be Taken To Dublin.

FEAR AN OUTBREAK

Tolerance By Government Characterizes Attitude Toward Ceremony

London, Oct. 29.—Although the British government refused to allow the body of Terence MacSwiney to be taken to Dublin on the ground it might lead to political disturbances, funeral services were held for the late lord mayor of Cork at the Irish capital and the day was observed as one of national mourning in Ireland.

After the body had been taken on board a small boat at Holyhead Wales, for direct transportation to Cork under guard of a detachment of black and tan police and English soldiers members of the MacSwiney family left for Kingstown on an ordinary steamer. The special boat bearing the body was due to arrive at Cork this afternoon. The body will rest in state at Cork until burial on Sunday.

Vigorous protests were made by members of the MacSwiney family at Holyhead over interference by the government in plans to take the body to Dublin. Mary MacSwiney, a sister, was especially resentful.

"Black and tan" police and a detachment of soldiers from the Cashmere regiment at Kingstown met the funeral train at the Welsh port. The commander of the police and military forces explained that he had received orders from the government to take the body direct to Cork. Mary MacSwiney who had accompanied the body from London sitting beside the coffin in a baggage car, began to protest. Finally policemen forcibly ejected her and took charge of the coffin.

When news was received in this city of the action of the government officials members of the Irish self determination league and other pro-Irish organizations announced that funeral ceremonies at Dublin would be carried out according to program would be as far as possible despite the absence of the body. The Irish office, pursuant to the policy adopted toward the funeral services in this city said no attempt would be made to interfere with the funeral arrangements at Cork. It was said the coffin might be draped with Sinn Fein flags while lying in state and that no restrictions would be placed upon the size of the funeral procession so long as the participants were not armed and did not march in military formation.

FILM AMBITIONS CAUSE DISTURBANCE

Nyack, N. Y., Oct. 29.—Six Nyack girls, four of them school girls, who displayed their movie ambitions in lights on the stage of a local theater, have this town all excited. The church element led by the Rev. Dr. J. R. Matham and others professes to be shocked. The bachelor faction of the population both young and old, is excited also, but differently. The trouble began when the manager of a theater offered a chance to boys and girls with movie ambitions to get into real pictures. The boys were more or less backward, but six girls jumped at the chance and the film was duly produced. After a shimmie exhibition came a view of "bathing beauties" with the girls in tights. The Rev. Dr. Sartell Prentice, pastor of the Dutch Reformed Church, who was among the spectators, immediately left the theater. He took his son with him. After that things began to happen.

MAKES BUNGALOW ON WHEELS

With the purpose of beating the high cost of living, William Wood and his son, of Richmond Valley, Staten Island, N. Y., are building a bungalow on wheels. The curious looking vehicle is under construction in the back yard of the Wood home. It contains a living room, bath and kitchen, and when completed, will be set on wheels and attached to an automobile and a long trip to St. Petersburg, Fla., started. The picture shows Mr. Wood at work on his "bungalow on wheels," and the St. Bernard dog, "Joe," which will also make the trip as guard.

PREDICTS PLENTY OF COAL THROUGHOUT OHIO

Prices Automatically Will Come Down Is Belief.

Columbus, O., Oct. 29.—That there will be plenty of coal throughout Ohio soon and at lower prices, is the prediction made by Charles C. Marshall, chairman of the state utilities commission.

"With the northwest market closing, there will be a bigger supply in Ohio and prices automatically will come down somewhat," said Chairman Marshall.

His prediction is based upon the claim that investigations this week by the interstate commerce commission, the National Coal Association and the American Railway association disclosed that an "actual emergency exists in Ohio and that there would be extensive suffering in event of a cold wave."

Chairman Marshall believed this investigation is responsible for the cancellation, last Wednesday, of priority orders for the northwest. He said a representative will be sent here by the interstate commerce commission to take care of emergency cases.

It was his opinion that Ohio coal dealers will receive fairly good supplies by Tuesday and that the fuel situation will continue to improve until the demands have been met.

BANDIT FATALLY SHOT IN ATTEMPT TO HOLD UP STORE

Proprietor Shoots Man As Escape Is Planned In Auto

Toledo, O., Oct. 29.—One bandit was shot, probably fatally, in a wild chase by citizens after he and a companion attempted to rob the drugstore of Floyd Pocock in the West and early today. The wounded highwayman was identified as Edward Long, a Toledo waiter.

The two robbers ran when the proprietor entered the store. They jumped into a waiting automobile, closely pursued by Pocock, who fired six shots at the fleeing bandits, one of the bullets hitting Long. They then stopped their car and attempted to escape on foot, but were soon surrounded by citizens.

The second robber gave his name as John Long, 23, Toledo.

HARDING TO OUTLINE REPUBLICAN PLANS IN ADDRESS FRIDAY

Senator To Speak In Cincinnati Friday Night—Delivers Address Before Capacity Audience In Akron Thursday Evening.

DEMOCRATIC ADMINISTRATION SCORED

Nominee Declares U. S. Will Not Fail the World But Will Insist On Continuance Of Her Independence.

Akron, O., Oct. 29.—A series of impromptu rear-platform speeches were to be delivered today by Senator Warren G. Harding, Republican presidential candidate, enroute to Cincinnati, where tonight he will deliver his last but one prepared address before election. He planned to review to night what he declares to be the "fundamental incapacity" of the Democratic administration and to outline the Republican plans for retrenchment and reconstruction, along both national and international lines.

Senator Harding's campaign party left Akron before breakfast, quite satisfied that this section of Ohio was favorable, this year to Republicanism. The senator was more than impressed by the patience and enthusiasm of Akron audience, 1,000 of whom had to stand in the jammed armory building during the ninety minutes of his address which dealt chiefly with foreign affairs. There was a large percentage of women and factory workers in the audience and they vociferously cheered every reference by Senator Harding for unadulterated American independence of action in conduct of all foreign affairs. In a sentence his theme was:

"I want an America that does not take its orders industrially economically or politically from any body else in the world."

There was intense cheering when he referred at different times to the Republican declaration that "the United States was not going to submit to dictation of a number of foreign diplomats sitting around a table at Geneva, but that we are going to decide for ourselves what our foreign obligations shall be."

"America is the one great, unselfish nation in the world," he said. "But that's no reason why when selfish nations go out and grab the United States should underwrite the grab."

Senator Harding declared that he believed he was the "freest man ever nominated for the presidency."

"I'm unpledged. I'm unowned. I am unbossed," he asserted, "I have made no promises except one—to establish a department of social justice—that is not in the Republican platform which is my covenant."

Emphatic cheering greeted his declarations that the United States should have just as many votes in the assembly of an association of nations as Great Britain, that the United States should accept no mandate without congressional approval, and that the American people should first be consulted to ascertain what can be united upon in the way of a world association before taking up any obligation.

Cling to Independence.

"America is not going to fail the world," he promised. "But we are going to cling to our own independence and sovereignty in serving the world."

The candidate pleaded for election of a Republican senate and house, declared that he would find honorable means for giving American ships free passage through the Panama Canal over any British or foreign protest and that he would tell foreign powers who protest against American policy, as they did successfully in the case of the recent shipping legislation designed to aid American vessels, that "we'll run our business along American lines to suit ourselves."

He again asserted he would ask the old world for a settlement of accounts, not in a way that would prevent their recovery, but in a manner that would produce "negotiable paper so as to relieve the financial strain in America."

He warned of an impending readjustment that would bring business around to natural instead of continuing inflated conditions, declared he favored continuance of high wages if workmen produced 100 percent efficiency, and said such production, coupled with a decrease in the cost of government were the only two ways he knew of reducing the high cost of living.

SENATOR HARDING SPEAKS AT URBANA

Aboard Harding's Campaign Train, Urbana, O., Oct. 29.—Declaring that he wanted "some how to bring the revolutionist in America to understanding," Senator Warren G. Harding, in a rear platform speech here today said that America's service to mankind should not be limited to promoting peace among nations but should promote peace among men.

"I want the revolutionist to realize that nothing can be accomplished by destruction, that his service is in the lawful participation in freedom and appeal to reason," he said. "I want the dissatisfied and destructively inclined to come into fellowship and understanding and join in making the American temple of liberty ideal, not to waste energies upon its destruction. Understanding will tranquilize and harmonize and the American example will steady the world."

"One of the truly great services which America may render the world just now is to steady the human procession. We stand today the world's strongest defenders of present day civilization. Our supreme task is to make it abidingly secure."

"While we boast popular government we must have honest and honorable government and we can't have these without honest and honorable politics. A false appeal to the electorate is more unworthy, more dangerous than a ballot box destroyed."

CHARGES ARE MADE BY HARRY L. DAVIS

Cleveland, O., Oct. 29.—That the state, through the state highway department, has been paying 11 cents a gallon for tar and 15 cents a gallon for asphalt to the Ohio Road Improvement Company, a Findlay concern, made up of Democratic politicians, and that the asphalt is being furnished to the company by the same Philadelphia concern which last year furnished it direct to the state at a third of what the Findlay company is charging the state for it is a charge made today by Harry L. Davis, Republican candidate for governor.

Davis, also, claimed that a former member of the state highway advisory board, as Ohio agent for a Kentucky asphalt company, has been selling asphalt to the state at $12 a ton and that the company offered the same asphalt to the city of Cleveland at $8.50 a ton.

Promising a probe of the highway department if elected governor, Davis asked State Auditor Donahey, Democratic gubernatorial candidate whether he can tell what became of the $141,539 difference between the cost of these purchases made by the state and what the cost would have been had the lower quotations prevailed.

Pittsburgh, Oct. 29.—With a light workout this afternoon Pitt is all set for tomorrow's game with Lafayette. The Lafayette team got in early today and had its final work this morning though there were snow flurries over Forbes Field. The present line ups of both teams stand.

Morgantown, W. Va., Oct. 29.—Twenty two West Virginia university football players are now on their way to Princeton today for tomorrow's game. Practice will be held at Franklin Field, Philadelphia this afternoon and the trip to Princeton will not be completed until just before the game this Saturday. The mountaineers lineup has not yet been announced.

Chicago, Oct. 29.—Ohio's warriors arrived here today for the battle with Chicago on Stagg field tomorrow. Supporters of the Buckeyes brought plenty of money along and are offering odds of 8 to 5 that Ohio trims the Maroons. It was announced that Frank Williams, line smashing fullback, will be out of the game, not having recovered sufficiently from injuries to appear in the line up. Chicago is optimistic but not overconfident. Several regular who were unable to appear against Iowa week ago because of injuries will be back in the game.

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 29.—Illinois line up for the game against Minnesota tomorrow will be the same as that which faced and defeated Michigan a week ago, it was announced today. FAIRFIELD PETITION HEARD IN COURT HOUSE ON FRIDAY

The petition of the village of Fairfield to annex certain territory along the tracks of the Big Four and the Erie railroads, was heard before the County Commissioners at nine o'clock Friday morning.

Because of the vast amount of testimony given at the hearing and also at the hearing of the petition of the village of Osborn to annex the same territory some time ago, transcripts of each will be prepared and will be considered by the County Commissioners in rendering their decision.

There was not as large a crowd on hand at the Fairfield hearing as there was at the Osborn hearing several weeks ago, but representatives of both sides were present. The petition was argued by Judge Marcus Shoup of this city, attorney for Fairfield, by Morris D. Rice, of Osborn, attorney for the Osborn Removal Company and by Attorney C. L. Darlington, of this city, representing the Miami Conservancy District.

It will be at least a week or ten days and possibly longer before a decision is rendered in the hearings, which represent a fight between Osborn, to annex territory to which to move from its present location, where it has been forced out by the flood prevention work, and the attempt of Fairfield to annex the same territory in order to secure the railroad lines.

HOLD UP STORE.

St. Paul, Oct. 29.—Three armed and unmasked bandits held up and robbed the A. L. Shapero Jewelry Store in the heart of the business district here today, escaping in an automobile with two trays of diamonds, valued at $65,000.

When Johnson, quarterback on the University of Dayton football team caught a punt with his own ten yard line in the fourth quarter and ran 90 yards for a touchdown, he enabled his team to defeat the Sophomores 6-0, in the first inter-class game of the season at the school. Richard Sayre, former Central High School star, played left tackle the entire game for the first year team.

HEART AND HOME PROBLEMS

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a girl sixteen years old and in love with a boy nineteen, living in another town. He has asked me to marry him.

There is another boy in this town whom I have gone with two or three times, but I can't enjoy myself with him as I am all the time thinking about the other one.

My father is dead and I have a step-father. He is mean to me and he wants me to stay at home half the time. Mother says she will never give her consent to my marrying the boy I love. My sister ran away and married when she was sixteen and now she is a mother of two dear little children and is not satisfied. Mother thinks it will be the same way with me, but I love this boy dearly and it would break my heart to give him up. Do you think I would be doing right to run away and marry?

I have to work hard and then mother won't let me go out anywhere unless she goes with me. Please give me your best advice.

SWEET SIXTEEN.

You are too young to have freedom to go with boys as much as you please, and also too young to be thinking of marriage. Your sister's unhappiness is not strange. At least ninety-nine out of every hundred girls who marry at sixteen are unhappy. Follow your mother's advice and wait. If you and the young man really love each other your love can stand the test of time and when you are both old enough you will marry.

You must be blind to conditions to even consider marriage with a nineteen-year-old boy. Everything is so very expensive that he could not earn enough to provide for you, let alone the children which would probably come in the course of a few years.

Try to see your mother's point of view, and appreciate her advice to you. She is your best friend and you will have the chance to realize in later years.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am just a school teacher. It is said that school teachers are the one class of women to whom no one ever proposes. I know for a fact that this is a false statement. I myself have had more than one proposal and I know various other teachers who have had the same experience.

Right now there is a very handsome man who wants to marry me. He thinks himself a superman, while I do not find him even interesting. My parents think he is wonderful and they urge me to learn to care for him. Such a thing is absolutely impossible. My parents think I have reached the age where it is questionable if I ever marry, and so they want me to take for my life mate a man I do not like in the least.

It seems to me that I would be happier working than supported by a man I could not respect. My parents do not feel this way at all, however, and so I would like your opinion. ONLY A TEACHER.

I think you are decidedly right. You would sell your soul for a husband if you were to marry a man you could not respect or care for in the least. Women are setting a much higher standard for marriage than they used to. If they cannot have love they refuse marriage. Keep on with your teaching until the right man comes. You can earn happiness by good work even if you should never marry. There is no age limit, however, in marriage, and nowadays women are so busy in their twenties that many do not marry until they have passed thirty.

COX'S NEWSPAPER APPEALS TO "GERMAN-AMERICAN FRIENDS" TO PUNISH REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

A recent editorial in Governor Cox's own newspaper, the Dayton News, does not pretend to be anything else than a brazen appeal to what it frankly terms "our German-American friends." The article in question is a quite open attempt to prove to these "German-American friends" that the Republican leaders and not the Democratic President or the Democratic candidate have been their real "enemies." These prominent Republicans are pilloried for anti-German activity while the Great War still raged, as well as afterward in the delicate days when the peace terms were under discussion. The fact that they were then anti-German is now used to work them political harm.

It is incredible, but it is true. Our boys who fell in France fighting the Germans have many of them not yet found final sepulcher, but already conscienceless office-hunters in this country have the shameless audacity to treat an anti-German attitude, even in wartime, as a political crime, and to demand that the political party which harbors such "miscreants" be punished for it at the polls. Yet only two years ago today our boys were still falling under German bullets!

The Cox method is to quote a poll conducted by the Literary Digest in which Republican editors throughout the nation indicated their choice for Secretary of State in the coming Harding Cabinet. The poll resulted in suggesting Root, Lodge and Knox, in the order named. So the Cox newspaper proceeds to brand these three men as "anti-German." It quotes from their speeches to prove that they actually distrusted and condemned the public enemy of their country—truly a new offense in a public man! About 100,000,000 other Americans were guilty of the same sin.

The particularly malignant application of this line of argument to the "possibilities" for the office of Secretary of State is not left by the Cox journal to inference. It is stated in so many words with unblushing bluntness:

We want our German-American friends to know the views of the men, one of whom certainly will be chosen by Harding, if the latter is elected, to deal with Germany.

It could not be put plainer than that if the ex-Kaiser were saying it, "Vote for Cox and get a pro-German to deal with Germany." Or would he be satisfied with one "neutral even in thought?" If the Governor's paper does not mean that by accusing the men who are urged for Harding's Secretary of State of being unfriendly in the past to Germany, what does it mean? "Our German-American friends" are warned in set terms against prospective Secretaries of State—the men who "will deal with Germany"—because they can be shown to have said things well over a year ago which revealed them as still suspicious of Germany.

MORE THAN ONE "SOLEMN REFERENDUM."

Not the League of Nations alone is being submitted to the American people in "solemn referendum." The referendum next Tuesday will be on the administration of President Wilson and to determine whether a party and a candidate pledged to continue the record of that administration shall be given a mandate to do it.

There is no truer axiom in politics than that parties do not reform themselves. If the Democratic party is continued in power the last thing that could be expected of it is that it will stop or check the abuses and the evils that have grown up under Mr. Wilson's long and arbitrary regime. Nothing will be changed in Washington except the personnel of the executive administration. The vast organization of federal office holders will be unbroken, or merely renewed. Nobody will be interested in uncovering the sources of extravagance or in instituting economy. The incentive will all be the other way.

A new Democratic administration would want to cover up the extravagance and inefficiency of the old, and in doing that would commit itself to the same courses. It could not if it would reverse the policies that have resulted in the enormous expenditures, the abuses of patronage, the duplication and waste in the government departments. These evils are inherent in a political organization that is not compelled, at proper intervals, to give an accounting of its stewardship.

If the issue of the league had not intervened to dwarf all others, and to turn the thoughts of all Americans to the preservation of their national sovereignty rather than to their domestic welfare, it is probable the record of the Wilson administration on the single issue of its organized wastefulness and failure of accomplishment would be sufficient to determine the result of the referendum. No other party and no other administration ever has equaled or approached that record.

If it is conceded that America must pull up sharp on this reckless and destructive course, nothing is more certain than that the check must come from another party than the one that whipped up the speed. The Democrats, if they win, will be under no obligation to slow down. They would take their victory, and probably could not be criticized for so taking it, as a license to give the country four years more of the jazz. Nobody could stop them, and they could not stop themselves.

But if the Republicans win they could not possibly read their mandate in any other way than an injunction to reverse every Democratic policy that has contributed to the mad dance of ruin. They would have to perform and show real results in the next four years, or themselves face defeat. Their incentive would be the exact opposite of that of a "vindicating" Democratic party.

On this point of domestic administration the referendum of next Tuesday ought to be as "solemn" and as decisive as that on the league itself.—Exchange.

AUTHOR OF THE DRY ENFORCEMENT ACT SUPPORTS DAVIS

C. C. Crabbe, of London, author of prohibition law enforcing measures passed by the last general assembly, has issued this statement:

For more than fifteen years I have been affiliated with the Anti-Saloon league and have taken an active part in each campaign seeking to eliminate the liquor traffic. I have been interested in rigid enforcement of the law and during the three terms which I served as prosecuting attorney of Madison county had an opportunity to learn the difficulties in connection with the prosecution of liquor violations.

"As a member of the present general assembly I was chairman of the committee on liquor traffic and temperance and introduced certain bills to carry out the will of the people, who at the last general election ordered that the sale and manufacture for sale of intoxicating liquors shall be prohibited.

"Our committee has had sufficient experience with a Democratic governor in carrying out the will of the wet Democratic organization and as one interested in the strict enforcement of the law, I feel that the interests of the people of Ohio will be better cared for by the election of the Republican nominee, Harry L. Davis, who promises to carry out the Republican platform, and to enforce the law to the letter. I have not only the verbal but the written promise of Mr. Davis to do this. Ohio Republicans have never gained anything by voting for a Democratic candidate for governor.

"Many of the campaign statements about Mr. Davis are as false and malicious as the attacks made upon Senator Harding.

"I shall give Harry L. Davis my hearty support for governor, and urge every Republican to do likewise. He is loyally supporting Senator Harding and Frank B. Willis, while his Democratic opponent is doing all that he can to accomplish their defeat."

NOTRE DAME WILL MEET ARMY ELEVEN

New York, Oct. 29.—Notre Dame versus Army!

Here is the real piece de resistance on Saturday's football menu.

In the east this game will draw attention away from the big three. In the west it will be watched with keen interest. The annual clash between the army and the "fightin' Irish" from Hoosierland have become an inter-sectional fixture of real class. Notre Dame, one of the pioneers in the use of the aerial game generally turns out a strong, versatile eleven and the annual game with the army points the cadets each fall for their one big contest—the clash with the middies.

Coach Daly's cadets have not tasted defeat this season. They have beaten Union, Marshall, Middlebury, Springfield and Tufts, piling up a total of 155 points against 13 for their opponents. But tomorrow's game with Notre Dame will be the first real test of Army's strength.

Coach Rockne's eleven, having defeated Nebraska and Valparaiso by sizeable scores, will no doubt keep up the precedent established in past years by fighting the cadets to a standstill. The victors, no matter which team wins, will know they have been to a football game.

(Political Advertising) MRS. JOHN POLITICS—INDEPENDENT

"Well, wife, I have not been saying a great deal, but I confess that since our last talk I have been doing a lot of thinking, and have come to the conclusion that in the main you are right, and I may decide yet to vote a mixed ticket. Really I am proud of you to know that you have become so well informed and are in a position to cast an intelligent ballot. There is one thing, however, that bothers me. I do not think that some of the candidates that you are going to vote for can be elected, and therefore if you cast your ballot for these you will only lose your vote. And then, this is the first time that women have voted and if they attempt to vote a mixed ticket, I am afraid also that some of them will lose their vote."

"Now John, it is very kind of you to say that you are proud of me. You have always been a very kind and faithful husband and I want you to feel that the tie of love that has bound me to you has grown stronger with the year."

"Now as to losing my vote, will say that that is of minor importance to me compared to the question of doing right. My feeling is expressed in the language of the great statesman who said, 'I would rather be right than be president.' Some of the politicians are trying very hard to scare the women out of trying to vote a mixed ticket on the ground that they may make some mistake and lose their vote, but we women are not scared, but believe in the tremendous power women can exert in accomplishing political reforms if they will only vote for clean, dry men regardless of party."

"Now, let us look into this question of a lost vote. It is true that I may lose my vote if you are thinking merely of a failure to elect my candidates, but you do not know that the candidates for whom you expect to vote will be elected even though you feel that they are on the popular side. Suppose your candidates fall at election, by a few votes, and the ones for whom I vote fall by a very large number of votes, have you not lost your vote as well as I?"

"If that is the way you are looking at the question of a lost vote I think that a mis is as good as a mile." Let us look into the question in another light. What is a vote, anyhow? It is only an expression of my opinion or choice, and should represent my honest, conscientious conviction. You indicate that if my candidates are not elected I have lost my vote. Now, what have I lost? Have I lost my opinion? Have I lost my honest conviction? You know that I have not. I can only lose my honest opinion or my conscientious conviction when I become a traitor to myself and my God. A vote that is cast on the side of right is never lost. It is as 'bread cast upon the water' that shall bring its reward, if not in time, then in eternity."

Let us look at history for a moment. Long years ago the Prohibition party was organized by a few people to fight for Prohibition and giving of the ballot to women. For nearly half a century comparatively a small number of men cast their votes for the party's candidates, while thousands sneered and said they lost their votes. But what thinking man or woman could fail to give that party a large share of the credit for these great reforms. More than one hundred years ago a little company of men decided to cast their vote on the side that seemed sure to lose, but they took their lives in their hands, signed the Declaration of Independence, and their names are emblazoned high upon the scroll of fame. Mrs. Politics grew eloquent and her face shown with an expression that alone can come from those whose very souls have grasped some jewels of divine truth. John Bunyan stood for his faith, went to jail, and apparently lost, but millions have thanked God for Pilgrim's Progress. John Wesley decided to cast his vote on the losing side but who would not covet the glory that is now his? In my imagination, I see the lowly Nazarene dying the humiliating shameful death of the cross, because apparently had cast his vote on the losing side, but angels and arch-

RIPPLING RHYMES

A YEAR AGO.

A year ago today, no doubt, I had the fantods or the gout or some grim grief oppressed my soul, and made the scalding teardrops roll. But what it was that made me sore, I don't remember any more. A year ago, I wist and wot, my grumbings made the welkin hot; the burdens I was doomed to bear seemed greater than a man should wear; but what those burdens were that galled my shoulders till I wept and bawled, I don't recall; how can one say what chanced a year ago today? Today I'm weeping by the hour; the life I live seems lemon-sour; the government is on the blink, there's nothing for a man to drink, the base-ball scandal broke my heart, my ding-donged auto will not start. But if you meet me one year hence, and lean with me against the fence, and look me in the eyes and say, "We met one year ago today, and you were shedding bitter tears, and had crape tassels on your ears, and sackcloth on your jaded frame, and ashes where your whiskers came; you seemed a most grief-stricken man; now, please explain it, if you can," ah, who can recollect the woe that jarred his soul a year ago? I have fresh troubles every morn; each hour catastrophes are born; I'd be a freak if I could say what hurt a year ago today.

angels shall sing through the eternal cause I thought my vote would win ages. "Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive Honor, Glory and Power, forever and ever." No, no, John, a good vote is never lost and the pages of history are filled with the names of noble martyrs who cast their votes on the losing side and by so doing brought untold blessing to the human race. A few votes on the side of right have won the great moral victories of the world. I would rather cast my vote on the losing side and be able to associate my name with the great heroes of history than to cast my vote for a corrupt man or a corrupt principle be-

HARDING ELECTION PREDICTED BY HAYS: LEADERS IN CONFLICT OVER 12 STATES

Greatest Popular Majority in History Will Be Given Senator Harding Declares Chairman Hays In Statement Friday.

New York, Oct. 29.—Republican confidence of success at the polls next Tuesday, reached so high a tide today that Chairman Will Hays declared Harding's election will be effected by the greatest popular majority in his tory and that his electoral majority will exceed even the unprecedented victory of Theodore Roosevelt in 1904.

Oddly enough while Hays was making his claims to unparalleled victory, George White, the Democratic chairman, was assuring callers at Democratic headquarters that the Republicans are demoralized from the Canadian border to the gulf, and from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Republican and Democratic claims as voiced by Hays and White are in direct conflict in at least a dozen states, included in those border states named by Mr. White as certainly Democratic.

ed a loud voice in the gallery. "My dear man," replied the governor "I have no more concern about those seven than I have about the 39 senators who formed the conspiracy."

Mrs. Schuyler McClellan won the ladies prize and Fenton Chew, the men's. Mrs. Babb's guests were Mr. and Mrs. Schuyler McClellan, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Chew, Mr. and Mrs. Agnew DeHaven, Dr. and Mrs. Kester, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Shadrack, Mr. and Mrs. Dilver Belden, Lois Babb and Arthur Garfield, Mr. and Mrs. John Baldner.

Republican Candidate for State Senator, 5th-6th District, Comprising the Counties of Clinton, Fayette, Greene, Highland and Ross

THE nomination of Mr. Pence for this important office is a wise one and will meet with the general approval of the people. He served Highland County two terms as Representative in the State Legislature where he was recognized as a member possessing unusual ability and influence.

He is one of the big, progressive farmers of Highland County, living a few miles west of Hillsboro on the Danville pike. He is a public-spirited citizen, a man who is always willing to give both of his time and money to any cause which will promote the best interests of the community, state or nation.

He has made a success of his private affairs, is a man of ability and good judgment and thoroughly honest. When a representative he proved his worth as a public official, showed that he was well qualified to serve in a legislative capacity. His experience gained then will serve him and the people in good stead when he takes up the duties of state senator.

He is a member of the Masonic fraternity, Scottish Rite 32nd, the Elks, I. O. O. F., and Modern Woodmen, and active in the Ohio State Grange.

It is pleasing to note that his candidacy is being actively supported by the best citizens of all parties who realize the importance of electing a true and qualified fellow business man to represent them in the next state legislature.

BEAUTY CHATS

For the Delicate Nails

There are some women whose finger nails are so sensitive that even a small amount of housework will make the cuticle dark and ragged and the nail itself dry and full of ridges. Some women have nails so sensitive that a frequent manicure does more harm than good. These people are particularly unfortunate because the nails are going to grow old long before they themselves show any other signs of age.

The best advice that can be given to such people would be to tell them to avoid a manicure as far as possible. Now the way to avoid a manicure is not to neglect having one, but to prevent the necessity for one, which means extra good care of the nails.

When you have taken your daily bath go over the edges of the nail with an orange wood stick as soon as you have dried your hands. The skin will be soft from its long immersion in your bath water and it will be easy to keep the edges of the nail looking neat. Some people will tell you that if this is done every day you will never have to have the cuticle clipped, but this is not so unless your skin is different from any other.

If your nails have the least tendency to be dry, rub them with olive oil three or four times every week. This will nourish the new nail as it grows in and will keep it smooth and young. When a bleach is necessary do not use an acid, but instead something very mild, such as lemon juice.

Most of your manicuring should be done with an emery board to file the nails an orangewood stick to keep them neat, olive oil or cold cream to nourish them, and lemon juice to bleach them. Use the buffer as often as you wish, for it stimulates the circulation, but do not use polishing powders or pastes, as these are drying.

Mrs. Anxious—Do not nag him, or you will make him worse. The best course is to show him how this smoking is injuring him. Probably you feel you have already done that and failed. If I were you I would find out just why excessive cigarette smoking undermines the health, then wait for the opportune time to bring your information out. Never quarrel over it, nor hold up some other man as a pattern. Appeal to his pride in himself, this his habit has gotten the better of him. Believe, with all your heart, that he is giving them up, since they stand in his way of success. If you do this, your attitude toward it will be happy and he will get into rhythm with your feelings and surprise you by telling you he does not intend to allow this smoking to stand in his way any longer. It is a form of mental treatment, so simple that many people will not accept it.

When you nag, or even annoy, it sets up opposition, and the object you wish to attain is farther away than if you had been silent, since the opposition is like a wall of resistance. When you show assurance, it not only flatters, but puts the other one in a Mize, of Kansas City, Kan., missionary way to please their wives, even to giving up a bad habit, if they are approached tactfully. Appeal to the success side, by showing confidence in his good sense to win. Then the other side, which is negative, will disappear entirely.

LATE BLIGHT SAID TO INJURE POTATOES

The late blight has passed over the potato crop of Ohio, and in many fields the tops have been dead and dry for a couple of weeks.

Blighted potatoes should be dug just as soon as it is possible to dig them, for soft rot usually follows closely after the blight.

Soft rot is generally present now in the earlier and more severely blighted fields, but in the majority of the blighted areas it is not yet serious owing to the dry warm weather now prevailing. A heavy rain, however, will quickly change the situation, for this will wash the blight spores, present in tremendous numbers on the diseased vines, down through the soil and onto the tubers. A heavy rain with the potatoes still in the ground will result in immense losses from soft rot.

Potatoes from blighted fields must be given special care after digging, for if they are carelessly handled the rot will quickly cause a total loss. They must be thoroughly dried before packing or piling, and carefully sorted if there is any rot present.

If these potatoes must be stored the storage place must be dry.

PROTECT YOUR ROSES IS WARNING ISSUED

"Protect your roses," is the recommendation of Prof. A. C. Hottes of the Ohio State University. "All of the hybrid teas, teas, and most of the hybrid perpetuals need winter protection. The best protection is gained by hilling the earth about the base of the plants to a height of 8 to 12 inches. A common cause of injury in the winter comes from allowing water to remain about the crowns of the plants. After soil is drawn up about the plants, the surface should be mulched with several inches of coarse straw manure, which will not only serve as a protection against the cold, but will conserve the moisture in the plants and add to the fertility of the soil. Late in February and in March the strong sun causes the branches to become warm and start their growth. At night the air again becomes cold. Such alternate freezing and thawing is very injurious to the rose plants. To guard against this injury, the branches should be wrapped with burlap, straw or evergreen boughs.

The hybrid teas and teas should be entirely covered with soil or protected in some way to a height of 12 to 15 inches. Many rose lovers turn orange boxes or peach baskets over the plants after they have been hilled up and mulched.

"Climbers are also well protected if their tops can be placed on the soil and covered with earth. Many of the hardiest sorts need no protection."

FRUIT DESTROYED BY WIND

Port Clinton, Oct. 23.—A heavy windstorm swept this section Wednesday afternoon, causing much of the late fruit to fall to the ground. Hundreds of bushels of late peaches and apples will be wasted, causing heavy losses to the growers. The dry, warm weather this fall has caused the late peaches to hold out longer than any season in years, and some of the growers still have much fruit to be harvested.

Eruptions of the Skin Cause Torturous Itching

If you are afflicted with any form of skin disorder, you are well acquainted with the flaming, burning itching that these diseases produce.

Skin diseases are caused by an impurity or disorder in the blood, and there is no real and genuine relief within your reach until such impurities are removed.

S.S.S. has given great satisfaction in the treatment of these disorders, because it is such a thoroughly satisfactory blood purifier. It cleanses the blood of all impurities, and thus counteracts the effects of the germs that attack the skin.

Begin taking S.S.S. today, and if you will write a complete history of your case, our medical advisers will give you expert advice without charge. Address Chief Medical Adviser, 158 Swift Laboratory, Atlanta, Ga.

Supply and Demand

The heavy demand for building loans has advanced the rate of interest to 7%. Even at this advanced rate, loan companies have been unable to supply the requests for loans. Not until we in turn advanced our rate of interest on time deposits have we been able to secure enough money to supply the demand for building loans. We are now paying 6% on time deposits and hundreds of people have already brought their money to us to deposit at this higher rate of interest.

NO PARKING OF CARS PERMITTED IN BLOCK ELECTION NIGHT

No parking of machines or vehicles on South Detroit street between Main and Second streets, will be permitted on election night, Tuesday, according to an order issued by Chief of Police Graham.

Owing to the fact that the Gazette and Republican will give election returns that night by throwing news on slides on a specially constructed screen on the sidewalk in front of the newspaper offices, there will be no parking allowed on that block, in order that the crowd can watch the returns.

A policeman will see that the street is clear of vehicles, and no machine will be permitted to travel through the block after the crowd has begun to assemble.

MAROONS TO PLAY RIVERVIEW SUNDAY

The Riverview Indians, slated as one of the fastest aggregations in Cincinnati will furnish opposition for the Xenia Maroons in the game to be played at Reserve Park, next Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

With the weather changing to a real football atmosphere, it is thought that there will be more interest displayed in the fall game from now on, as in all the games played during the season so far, the weather has been almost too hot for the contests.

The Indians have established a good seasonal record so far, having defeated Aurora, Indiana, Bellevue, Kentucky and scoring against the Lockland, Ohio team for the first time that aggregation has been scored against, being defeated in the second half.

The team has one of the best coaches in the Queen City, in Tony Willis, who has whipped the Indians into one of the most formidable and aggressive eleven playing in Cincinnati. Many former college stars, some of them stars a few years ago at St. Xavier's, are now playing on the team, and they promise, in a letter from Joe Wellage, the manager to give the locals a real contest.

WORKMEN REMOVE 300 CHUNKS OF GUM

Expert workmen who refinished the third floor of the Memorial hall, at Washington C. H., estimated that somewhere in the neighborhood of three hundred chunks of chewing gum were removed.

There was not a square yard of floor space without its deposit of gum and it was up to the refinishers to fall to. Knife in hand they scraped it up in great quantities.

ACKNOWLEDGES HE MADE A MISTAKE

Thought there was nothing that would get his liver to acting, overcome his constipation, or relieve the gas in his stomach. Declares the root and herb medicine Dreco, has done all this and more for him.

"I am free to admit that I made a mistake when I thought my troubles were so stubborn that nothing would overcome them," said Mr. W. E. Beamer of 632 West Adams Street, Sandusky, Ohio.

"My stomach was in bad condition for after meals I'd fill up with gas and be very uncomfortable from belching and griping pains. I know my liver was sluggish for I often got dizzy and spots would dance before my eyes and my head would ache something awful.

"I frequently had to get up at night on account of my kidneys and had backache and dull pains over my kidneys. My bowels were bound up so that I had to take medicine for that trouble nearly every night.

"As soon as I read about this medicine, Dreco, I got a bottle and it went right after my troubles and in a few days I could see that it was doing the work. My improvement continued so today I'm buying three bottles of Dreco and feel that they are going to fix me up in fine shape. Dreco is the best medicine I ever took."

All Druggists now sell Dreco and it is being especially introduced in Xenia at Sohn's drug store.

"Pape's Cold Compound" is the quickest, surest relief known and costs only a few cents at drug stores. It acts without assistance. Tastes nice. Contains no quinine. Insist on Pape's!

How To Overcome

That Awful Reaction Caused By Influenza

Influenza, Grippe, or any severe sickness leaves the blood poor, thin and devitalized, and the system weak run-down and in a nervous condition. The one great remedy to create strength after sickness is Vinol, because it contains the tissue-building elements of fresh cods' livers, aided by the blood, strength and vitality making elements of tonic iron, beef peptone and glycerophosphates. It creates a hearty appetite, aids digestion, quickens the circulation, and every nerve organ and muscle of the body is soon filled with new strength, energy and vitality.

There are many people in this city who will tell you from personal experience what Vinol has done for them.

WHAT YOU CAN DO TO HELP ELECT HARDING

Call up the Harding and Coolidge Club at once, Bell Phones No. 31-R and No. 95, or Citizens Phone No. 95 and offer your assistance in any of the following ways:

First—Offer your service for election day. We need men and women who will work at the polls on election day. Under the law we cannot pay for this service.

Second—Offer the use of your automobile on election day.

Third—Give us the name of any acquaintance who may be unable to go to the polls without assistance.

Fourth—Vote early yourself and insist upon every member of your family and every acquaintance doing likewise.

Fifth—If you have any friend who needs instruction, get sample ballots of us and show that friend how to vote.

Sixth—Telephone us any information you think we ought to have.

WHO CAN VOTE

Any person who is twenty-one years of age, is a citizen of the United States, has resided in Ohio one year and in Greene county one month is entitled to vote.

The right to vote is the CROWNING RIGHT OF CITIZENSHIP. Every man and every woman, who is a true AMERICAN, will insist upon exercising this right. IF YOU ARE DENIED THIS RIGHT ON ELECTION DAY, telephone the Harding and Coolidge Club, Bell Phone No. 95, or Citizens Phone No. 95, and a competent attorney will be assigned to give you legal assistance without any charge whatever to you.

HOW TO VOTE.

Go to your voting place. Give the election officer your name, as John Smith or Mary Smith, not Mrs. John Smith. You will be handed two large tickets, namely the National Ticket and the State and County Ticket. Both of these are party tickets, and you will find at the top the party emblems with a circle directly below each of the emblems. Go into the booth, take a common lead pencil, which you will find in the booth, put one X IN THE CIRCLE UNDER THE EAGLE on each of these tickets. Do not put any other mark on them or you may lose your vote. Many men who thought they knew all about voting a mixed ticket, have lost their votes because they put an X in the wrong place. Do not write your name on the ticket.

You will be handed also two small tickets, in addition to the two large tickets above mentioned. These are not party tickets and so have no emblems at the top. They are the Judicial Ticket and the Prohibition Enforcement or Crabbe Act Ticket. Vote the Judicial Ticket by putting an X in the space to the left of each man you want to vote for. Make up your mind which men you want to vote for before you go to the polls. Sample Judicial ballots are available to aid you in your selection of judges and you should get one of these unless you know what judges you want to vote for.

The second small ticket is the Prohibition Enforcement or Crabbe Act Ticket above mentioned. You will vote by putting an X in the space to the left of Yes or No as you desire.

If you live in Xenia, you will be handed two other tickets, the ticket providing for an increased levy for school purposes in Xenia School District and a ticket providing for a tax levy for the Firemen and Policemen's Pension Fund. You will vote Yes or No as you choose by putting an X in the space to the left of Yes or No, exactly as on the Crabbe Act ticket.

Hand all six tickets (if you live outside of Xenia you will have only four) to the election officer and he will put them in the proper boxes.

WHERE RESIDENTS OF XENIA VOTE

There are eight voting precincts in Xenia city, A—B—C—D—E—F—G—H. These precincts are bounded on one side by the old corporation line of the city of Xenia, not the new corporation line recently established. The boundaries are as follows:

The precincts known as Xenia Township North and Xenia Township South are the same as they were at the last election.

The people living in the territory incorporation in the city of Xenia by the recent change in the corporation line will vote at this election in Xenia Township and not in Xenia City.

VOTING PLACES

A—Mrs. Anna Comford, Cincinnati Avenue.
B—Mrs. Ashbaugh's residence, 514 West Second St.
C—Jordon's Plumbing Shop, West Third St.
D—North Detroit St., opposite city building.

Fordson

TRADE MARK

Farm Tractor

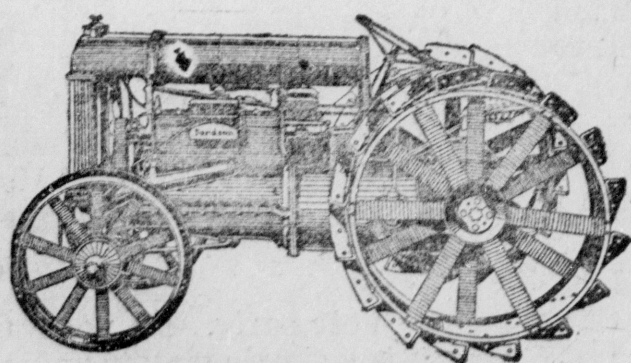

More than 100,000 Fordson tractors have been sold to farmers in the United States. They are helping those farmers do more and better work in less time and at less cost. North, East, South, West—everywhere the Fordson has proven itself a money-maker and a real necessity to the farmer. Besides it solves the labor problem.

These practical farmers have affirmed the economy—the exceptionally low fuel and operating cost—of the Fordson; its time and labor-saving qualities and its ability to increase production. The Fordson was built to be the most economical tractor. It is compact and devoid of excessive weight. And it is built of same strong Vanadium steel as the Ford car.

Winter or bad weather does not hinder the Fordson's usefulness. Day or night—twenty-four hours a day if you choose—you can utilize the Fordson.

Only so many Fordsons are allotted this territory. Orders are being filled in rotation. Let us have yours now.

School Teacher Needed

Brains

"I never had such a 'Godsend' come to me as when I took the first dose of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy. I was afraid I would have to give up my school because of severe stomach, liver and bowel trouble which caused such a pressure of gas that I could not use my brain at times and my heart would palpitate awfully. Since taking a treatment of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy a year ago, all this has disappeared." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Bring Back Color and Lustre to Hair.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundredfold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients at a small cost, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire dark hair and a youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

AMERICANS DO NOT UNDERSTAND EUROPE SAYS AMERICAN ACE

Discussing the League of Nations from the viewpoint of the soldier Captain Eddie Rickenbacker, American Ace, points out that European nations are interested in the United States only in so far as we are of use to them. He says:

Americans who were not in the great war do not seem to understand Europeans. That fact impresses every soldier who came back from France.

Europeans do not dislike the United States. They do not like the United States. They are fond of us when we fight to help them. When we cease fighting, they cease to think about us. When we spend money with them, they are pleased with us. When we stop spending, they are indifferent to us.

In other words, they think of us only as we are useful to them. When we are no longer useful they forget us.

Before he went to Europe, the soldier had heard that nations were not grateful. But he never knew this was true, until the war was over. Now he knows it better than anyone else.

With a European, his own country is first; any other country, nowhere. That is the first and last thing this country has to remember when it does business with European countries. The soldier has learned this lesson. It strikes him as queer that some of our diplomats have failed to grasp it.

I heard a man of large reputation say in New York that the League of Nations made the Monroe Doctrine safe because the Covenant put it under the protection of all the world. He meant that the Monroe Doctrine would be maintained by the thirty or forty foreign nations in the League.

To a straight-thinking soldier, that seems just about the most foolish thing a statesman could say. I am not a lawyer, but I understand that the Monroe Doctrine is for the benefit of the United States only. Its object is to keep foreign nations, especially European nations, from getting a foothold in the Americas and so pressing their quarrels upon us.

What then does the proposition mean that thirty or forty foreigners, meeting in Geneva, Switzerland, should be trusted to protect the Monroe Doctrine? It means that the very people the Monroe Doctrine was intended to hold at a distance, shall decide whether they shall come into the Americas or stay out. And they are to decide this as suits their own interests; just that and nothing else. Let nobody imagine they would decide it to suit us; they would not even pause to think how the decision would affect our interests, provided it suited theirs.

That is what some Americans call "safeguarding the Monroe Doctrine." The words are false. Ask the soldier who fought among the Allies; he will tell you so.

If the United States joins the League, thirty or forty foreign nations will be the managers of North and South America. The one little vote of the United States will make no difference. In most cases, the United States would not be allowed to cast it. The Monroe Doctrine would make no difference; in most cases it would have been signed away in advance. Our back door, front door and side doors would all be in the keeping of foreigners. We would be helpless.

The soldier can see the situation in no other light.

The League politicians say the soldier is wrong. They say this because they assume that foreigners are fond of America and will always give her air play. That assumption is a mistake. The European nations will always look after themselves first, and America last. To deny this seems as foolish to the soldier as to deny the sun at midday, for he has been there and he KNOWS that a Monroe Doctrine in the hands of Europe, Asia and Africa means a United States at the mercy of the world.

RECIPES FOR A DAY.
Three-P Salad.—Arrange two halves of stewed pears on lettuce leaf. Garnish with shredded pineapple and chopped peanuts. Serve with mayonnaise or a fruit dressing made as follows: Thicken pineapple juice with egg and thin with cream or whipped cream.

Stuffed Tomatoes.—Take large tomatoes, slice into an upper and lower half; scoop out pulp, salt, then drain. Stuff with bread crumbs moistened with water and seasoned with trace of onion and finely chopped pepper. Round nicely on top. Bake in same oven with shortcake and biscuits. Garnish with parsley and serve with thickened sauce, using half milk and half meat stock and season with chili sauce.

Liver and Tomato Sauce.—For this dish beef liver seems to be even more appetizing than calf's liver. This is a delicious way of using a cut of meat costing about one-half as much as other cuts—a cut few people appreciate. Cut three slices of bacon in small pieces and fry out, then remove from skillet. Remove tough portions from liver and cut into serving size pieces, place in hot fat and season plentifully. (This is essential). Fry 15 to 25 minutes, the longer the better. Five minutes before serving remove liver to platter, add to juices in skillet one-third cup of left-over macaroni and cheese and the bacon. If sauce does not thicken slightly or boil down enough thicken with flour.

Peach Shortcake.—Cream one-quarter cup butter substitute and one cup sugar, add one egg, cup milk, salt, two and one-half cups flour, two teaspoons baking powder. Bake in deep pie tin fifteen minutes. Split, butter thinly, spread with sliced peaches either fresh or canned. You can utilize the poorer peaches which could not be canned in perfect halves.

CANNING AND PRESERVING
Sweet Pickled Peaches.—Ten pounds peaches (peeled), four pounds sugar, one quart best cider vinegar. Boil sugar, vinegar and one tablespoon allspice; one tablespoon mace, one tablespoon cinnamon, one tablespoon cloves (ground). Put all the spices in a muslin bag and boil for one-half hour. Then put in the peeled peaches and boil for twenty minutes. Remove peaches from syrup and place on platters to cool. When cool fill sterilized jars and pour boiling syrup over them and seal. Will keep for years this way.

Canned Sliced Peaches.—Fill jars with sliced peaches and cover with syrup. To three quarts of water add four pounds of sugar. Boil syrup five minutes. Do not fasten covers securely. Put in any deep kettle or boiler, placing cloths in bottom and around cans. Cover kettle, and when boiling, boil sixteen minutes, remove from kettle and fasten caps on tightly.

Peach Butter.—Slice peaches (peeled). To each cup of peaches add a good one-half cup of sugar. Boil until thick, stirring carefully, as it will burn quickly when it gets thick.

THE WEDDING

Jennie's wedding went off beautifully Everything was just perfect, so they all said. Mr. Claxton gave them a check for $200 and we all remembered them with something for their home. The breakfast was a great success. Mr. Claxton declared they would miss their train if we didn't stop eating. Aunt Susan would have put to shame almost any caterer—not in variety, but because of her cooking.

We—that is, Mr. Claxton and I—rode to the station with them and then he took me home.
"I think they will be happy," he mused.
"I am sure they will," I replied with enthusiasm.

"Why are you so sure?"
"Oh—because they know each other so well, are so suited to each other."

"I think you are right. And marriage means either great happiness or life-long misery. We—people rush into it blindfolded, then wonder why they aren't happy."

"I want to think you,"—the words came of themselves; seemingly I had no volition—I surely had no thought of mentioning Kenneth Lawrence.

"Thank me—for what?"
"For making me make that promise. If you hadn't, I would have rushed into marriage blindfold."

"I saw that, and so I asked your promise."

I chanced the subject and spoke of Tom and Mary—a safe topic and one in which we never failed to be interested. But all the time I was thinking that he had watched me more closely than I had realized that he had understood me perhaps better than I had understood myself.

He left me at the door after I asked him to come in.

"Your Aunt asked me to come in this evening. She said I might have some of the 'leavings' if I would. I had a dinner engagement so could not accept her invitation to dine."

I laughed heartily at his repetition of Aunt Susan's word "leavings" and he joined me, then declared he would rather have them than the finest dinner at the Blackstone. When I repeated that to Aunt Susan she was so proud that Mary, who had waited for me, said she made her think of a peacock.

"Wait until you can cook well enough to have such a compliment from a man like Mr. Claxton, who knows how to eat, before you make fun of me," Aunt Susan said pretending to be severe.

Tom and Mary helped us "clear the rooms, while Mrs. Fagin who had been at the wedding washed dishes and helped in the kitchen. Then they all left and Mother, Aunt Susan and I were alone to talk things over. We would only have a bite at dinner time and wait for Mr. Claxton to really eat again, so Mother decided.

We were really very happy, a very contented trio. Mother was unusually bright and cheerful, which went far toward making me happy. We talked of Jennie and Mr. Bess, of Tom and Mary. Then we veered around to Kenneth.

"Have you ever regretted not marrying him?" Mother asked.

"Never, Mother," thoughts of what Frank Claxton said about rushing blindfold into marriage coming to me. "I can only be thankful that I saw my mistake in time. I might have ruined both his life and my own if I had done as intended at first—married him at once. Why, it almost frightens me when I think of it. I scarcely knew him at all—I was about to marry a dream man, not real flesh-and-blood man. Not that Kenneth isn't real enough, but it wasn't the real Kenneth I loved, or thought I loved but a creature of my own imagination."

"I hope you will find a real man some day," Aunt Susan said dryly. "and that when you find him you will know it."

Just then the bell rang and Mr. Claxton came in.

"Am I early?" he asked as he divested himself of coat and hat. "We finished sooner than I had dared to hope so I hurried right up, hoping you would forgive me if I disturbed you."

"We aren't so easily disturbed, young man," Aunt Susan remarked. "Then I saw her deliberately motion Mother to follow her as she left the room."

"Excuse me a few moments please," Mother said, and left Frank Claxton and me alone. My heart beat so fast and hard as he bent his gaze upon me that I feared he would hear it. And I felt my cheeks grow hot with blushes. Yet he had not spoken. Tomorrow—Zena Decides
